To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Manfred Siew, who has served as a valued contributor within the Republic of Singapore Air Force (RSAF) Agile Innovation Digital (RAiD) Power Platform Centre of Excellence (PPCoE) team. Since joining the PPCoE team in Oct 2025, he has consistently demonstrated strong technical capability, a positive learning attitude, and a deep commitment to supporting the proliferation of low-code software development across the RSAF.

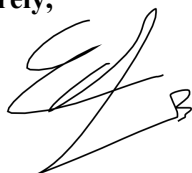

Manfred is an individual who brings both initiative and reliability to his work. He consistently takes the effort to understand problems in depth, proposes practical solutions, and follows through to ensure that issues are resolved efficiently. His ability to rapidly grasp new technical concepts allows him to translate learning into meaningful contributions within a short span of time, and for that, he has earned the trust of his colleagues through his diligence and professionalism.

Within the PPCoE team, Manfred has supported a variety of tasks ranging from low-code and Power Apps development, coaching his peers and even conducting training workshops for RSAF personnel. His contributions often extend beyond his assigned scope, as he actively collaborates with team members to ensure the broader success of ongoing initiatives. His structured approach to problem-solving and his readiness to assist others have made him a dependable member of the team.

Manfred has also made a strong impact through his dedicated support to RSAF users. He has demonstrated patience, clear communication, and a user-centric mindset when handling technical queries or troubleshooting requests. His responsiveness and willingness to go the extra mile have enabled the RSAF users to enhance their work processes and advanced the RSAF's broader goals of becoming data-driven. I have also witnessed his remarkable growth – progressing from a junior developer to confidently leading app-design discussions with RSAF users – all within the short span of four months. These qualities reflect his maturity, sense of responsibility, and strong service orientation.

Overall, Manfred is a highly motivated and capable individual with the potential to excel in further academic pursuits. His strong work ethic, collaborative spirit, and commitment to delivering quality outcomes make him well-suited for university studies that demand both intellectual engagement and disciplined application. I am confident that he will make significant contributions in any programme he undertakes and I strongly recommend Manfred Siew for admission to your university.

Sincerely,
